Claims Service

Great People. Integrity. Innovation.

No matter the type or complexity of your claim, our commitment to delivering high-quality and consistent claims service remains the same. Our policyholders continue doing business with us because of the professional manner in which we handle losses.

At Berkley Fire & Marine, we take pride in providing prompt, fair claims service. Treating others as we would want to be treated is anchored in our first guiding principle: do the right thing. We take it seriously. All claims are assigned to a Berkley Fire & Marine employee to guide you through the claims process, any time you need us.

Our highly trained claims professionals have the experience, resources, and expertise in inland marine and property claims necessary to deliver the best possible claim outcomes. Not every inland marine or property claim is the same. Our claims professionals are specialists in our niche markets including builders' risk, cargo, equipment, and property. You can expect to work with an adjuster who understands what you do. Claims are also assigned based on potential severity to ensure you always work with the right person.

When it comes to managing claims, communication is key. You and your clients will always be kept informed about important and current claims information. When losses do occur, you can trust that Berkley Fire & Marine has the technical expertise to help you through your claim and strategically solve any claim challenge.
